Other Terms and Conditions

1.1 Employment Nature The employment being offered is of a full-time nature unless otherwise stated in a separate annexure or communication. As an employee, you are expected to devote your full time, attention, and ability to your role during working hours. This employment does not create any obligation or guarantee of continuity and is subject to company requirements, funding, and performance. No informal conversation, email, or phone discussion shall be considered a binding contract unless explicitly stated and signed in writing by both parties.

1.2 Applicable Law This agreement, along with all associated documents and policies referenced herein, shall be governed, construed, and enforced in accordance with the laws and judicial precedents of the country or state in which the company is registered. Any dispute or legal proceeding arising under this agreement shall fall under the exclusive jurisdiction of the courts located within that region.

1.3 Amendments The company reserves the right to modify, revise, or amend any clause of this agreement with reasonable prior notice. All amendments must be made in writing and mutually agreed upon by the employer and the employee. Oral modifications, even if agreed upon, shall hold no legal weight.

1.4 Severability If any term or provision of this agreement is determined to be invalid, illegal, or unenforceable by a court of law, such determination shall not affect the remaining provisions, which will continue to remain valid and enforceable to the fullest extent permitted by law. The parties agree to replace the invalid provision with a valid one that most closely reflects the original intent.

Employee Code of Conduct

2.1 Professionalism Employees are expected to demonstrate professional behavior at all times. This includes being respectful to colleagues, clients, and vendors, maintaining integrity in all dealings, adhering to deadlines, and being accountable for one's actions. Inappropriate behavior, misuse of authority, or lack of professionalism can lead to corrective actions, including termination.

2.2 Attendance and Punctuality Punctuality and regular attendance are essential components of job performance. Employees are required to be present during standard business hours unless otherwise approved. Repeated late arrivals, early departures, or unauthorized absences may be considered misconduct and may be documented in the employee's personnel file.

2.3 Personal Appearance Employees are expected to be neatly groomed and wear business or business-casual attire unless otherwise permitted by company policy or special designation. Appearance should reflect a professional environment and should not be offensive, distracting, or inappropriate in a workplace setting.

2.4 Integrity and Confidentiality All employees are entrusted with confidential and proprietary information. Disclosure of such information without explicit written consent may lead to severe legal and disciplinary consequences. The obligation to protect this information continues even after termination or resignation.

Use of Company Assets

3.1 General Usage All equipment and infrastructure provided by the company, including but not limited to laptops, desktops, phones, internet, email systems, and software licenses, must be used exclusively for work-related activities unless prior permission is granted. Personal use of these assets must be limited and responsible.

3.2 Security and Maintenance Employees are required to take utmost care in using company assets and ensure that security protocols such as antivirus software, encrypted communication, and regular backups are adhered to. Any loss, damage, or misuse of assets must be reported immediately to the IT or Admin department.

3.3 Return of Property Upon resignation, termination, or completion of the employment term, all company property must be returned in good working condition. Failure to return company assets may result in salary deductions, legal action, or reporting to law enforcement if deemed necessary.

IT & Email Policy

4.1 Internet Usage Internet access is provided for professional use. Visiting unauthorized or illegal websites, downloading prohibited material, or misusing the internet for personal business or unethical conduct is strictly prohibited. The company reserves the right to monitor browsing history and usage statistics.

4.2 Email Etiquette Company-provided email IDs must be used for official communication. Emails must be written professionally, without offensive language, discriminatory remarks, or personal insults. Employees should avoid forwarding chain letters or sending irrelevant bulk messages.

4.3 Data Protection It is the duty of every employee to ensure that client data, employee records, and internal documents are protected from unauthorized access. Passwords must be strong and confidential. If any data breach or suspicious activity is noticed, it must be reported to IT Security immediately.

Grievance Redressal & Disciplinary Action

5.1 Grievance Reporting The company encourages open communication and provides multiple channels to report grievances, including direct reporting to HR, an anonymous email portal, and grievance redressal committees. All complaints will be handled discreetly and fairly.

5.2 Disciplinary Process In case of a violation of company policies, a formal inquiry will be conducted. Based on findings, corrective actions may include counseling, warnings, temporary suspension, or termination. The severity of action will depend on the nature and frequency of the violation.

5.3 Appeal Procedure Employees have the right to appeal any disciplinary action by submitting a written request to HR within 7 business days. The appeal will be reviewed by a neutral committee whose decision shall be final and binding.

Equal Opportunity & Harassment Policy

6.1 Equal Employment Opportunity We are committed to a fair and inclusive workplace. All hiring, promotions, and transfers are based solely on qualifications and performance, without bias regarding age, gender, caste, race, religion, or sexual orientation.

6.2 Workplace Harassment Harassment of any nature—verbal, physical, emotional, or sexual—will not be tolerated. This includes unwelcome jokes, intimidation, bullying, and offensive conduct. All complaints will be taken seriously and resolved promptly.

6.3 Investigation Upon receiving a complaint, the company will initiate a formal investigation. During this period, confidentiality will be maintained to protect all involved parties. Based on findings, corrective actions including termination may be imposed.

Training, Performance, and Appraisals

7.1 Orientation New employees are required to attend a comprehensive orientation session, which includes an introduction to the company's culture, safety protocols, reporting structures, and job expectations. Orientation must be completed within the first week of joining.

7.2 Performance Review Performance evaluations will be conducted quarterly or bi-annually. These evaluations will include feedback from supervisors, peers, and self-assessments. The review will also set goals and identify areas of improvement.

7.3 Appraisal Cycle Salary revisions, promotions, and recognition programs are conducted annually. Performance, conduct, teamwork, attendance, and leadership potential are considered in the evaluation.

Miscellaneous Clauses

8.1 Travel & Relocation In roles that require travel, expenses will be reimbursed as per policy. Any relocation support, if applicable, will be mentioned in the annexure. Non-compliance with travel norms may affect reimbursements.

8.2 Moonlighting Policy Employees are not permitted to take up freelance or secondary employment without written consent. Any engagement in outside work that conflicts with your duties or the company's interest will be treated as misconduct.

8.3 Force Majeure The company shall not be held responsible for delays or failures in performance resulting from events beyond its control, including but not limited to acts of God, war, natural disasters, or pandemics.

8.4 Entire Agreement This document, along with referenced annexures and policies, constitutes the full agreement between the company and the employee. It supersedes all previous agreements, understandings, or representations, whether oral or written.
